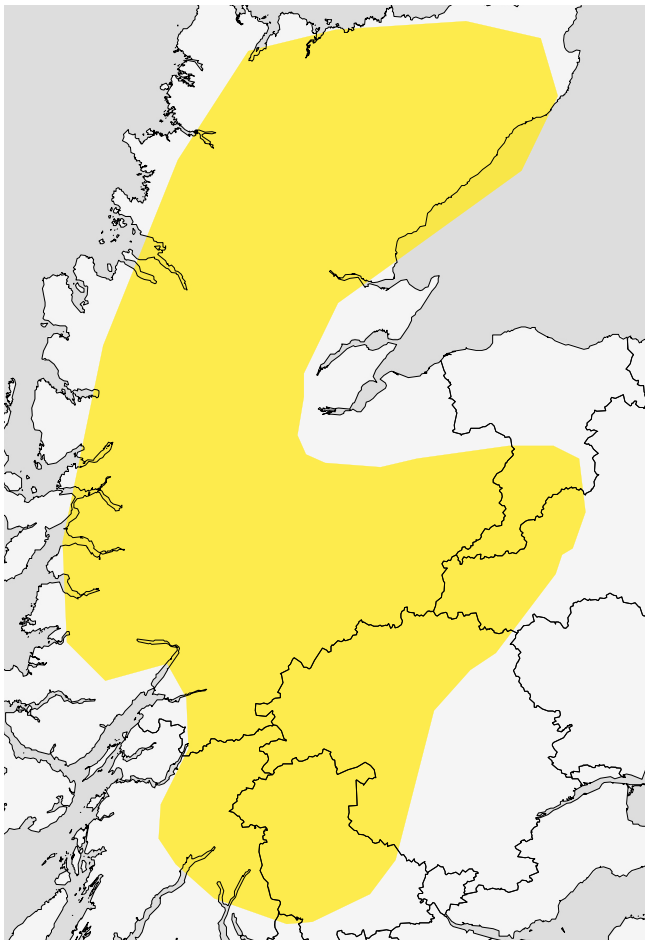
18:00 Mon 26 Dec 2022



Frequent blustery snow showers are likely to cause some travel disruption to higher routes.

What to expect

- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- A very small chance of interruptions to power supplies.
- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths

Further details

Strengthening west-northwesterly winds will bring increasingly frequent wintry showers to the west of Scotland through Sunday night and into Monday morning. These may fall as snow to low levels for a time where temporary accumulations of 1-3 cm are possible, with 5-10 cm of snow over the hills. Icy surfaces will be an additional hazard.

Snow will become increasingly confined to higher ground through Monday morning, with a further 10 cm or so possible by the end of the day.
